

The tele-marketers are right. They do, as well as the rest of the occupants of this great nation, have one of the greatest freedoms in the world. The right to free speech. The right they do not have is, the right to be heard.